

VOTE ON WOMEN IN SCHOOL POSTS

Elections in South Jersey Tonight to Fill Places on Boards

ONLY MEN TO BALLOT

Mrs. Austin H. Pettigrew Fights to Retain Office in Collingswood

There is not so much activity among the women of South Jersey this year in connection with the annual school elections...

Women may become members of school boards in townships and boroughs in New Jersey...

Mrs. Pettigrew was elected three years ago, and her term is now expiring. She wants to be re-elected...

The elections will be held between 7 and 9 o'clock tonight, and in the districts where there are fractional feelings...

There will be no appropriations voted upon tonight because special elections were held last month to comply with the new state law...

Glassboro will have three members of its board to elect and there will be two tickets in the field...

WOMEN IN POST-WAR WORK

Necessity of Their Aid Subject for Meeting Here Today

Necessity of women's service during the reconstruction period will be pointed out today at the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania State Committee of the National League for Women's Service...

It is contended that during the demobilization period and the passing of the country into peace conditions there is great opportunity for women to aid in many directions...

Addresses along this line will be made by numerous speakers, who have taken an active part in the work of the organization during the war...

SINN FEIN TO APE SUFFRAGISTS

Campaign to Start When Paris Yields—Safeguards Planned

London, March 17 (delayed).—(By A. P.)—The more aggressive section of the Sinn Fein party in Ireland contemplates a campaign similar to that adopted by the militant suffragists at the moment when the government of the Peace Conference is intervening in behalf of Ireland...

The authorities, however, are prepared to afford adequate protection to life and property, and the belief is expressed that with tact and discrimination they will be able to tide over the threatened trouble...

THE FAMOUS HAT OF EVEQUE

This is a copy of Mrs. Wilson's famous eveque hat. The copy is a star attraction at the rummage sale of the Independence Square Auxiliary of the Red Cross, 608 Chestnut street.

BABY BURNED TO DEATH DEATH IN TORNAO WAKE

Overturned Lamp Fires House, With Mother Absent at Ball

Lancaster, Pa., March 15.—With her father overseas and her mother attending a dance, three-year-old Beatrice Killian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Killian, 723 Rockland street, was burned to death late last night when she overturned a lighted lamp.

The little body, burned almost to ashes, was found shortly before midnight by Mary Wilson, 12 years old, a neighbor's child who had been left in charge of the baby.

THE WOMAN'S EXCHANGE

An Offer of Books

To the Editor of Woman's Page: Dear Madam—I have on hand some books—two on photography, that will help any camera lover make better pictures, and one on automobile design and construction...

Receiving these two letters almost in the same mail was such a very agreeable coincidence that we print them together. Niggy was gone when Mrs. M's letter came, but what could be more than to think the pretty little yellow letter came in his stead?

Dear Madam—I am a reader of your column and have found many interesting suggestions there. Will you please tell me how to take a grease stain out of material in any way? Also what would rid the hands of war? Perhaps you know some harmless home remedy. Gratefully yours, H. T. B.

Dear Madam—Do you know of any one who wants a pretty young boy to look in and write, half grown, little, male and clean. We are leaving the city and hope to have it build. MRS. J. A. R.

Dear Madam—In the EVENING PHILADELPHIA I read about Nig that Mrs. R. desired to give away. My little girl

four years old, found a little black kitten last Halloween and thought the world of it. Unfortunately, about two months ago it went out and never came back.

Every morning I have a crying spell about "Niggy," as she called the kitten. If the party changes her mind and does not want this little black "Niggy," I would like to have him for my little girl. If he is already disposed of will you print this?

If any one has a nice little male kitten she will give away, please write to Mrs. M. MRS. M.

Is It a Woman's Fault?

To the Editor of Woman's Page: Dear Madam—The other evening there appeared an article on the woman's page headed, "Why a Woman Gets Older Sooner Than a Man?" And you say it is the woman's fault.

If you mean the wage woman, that is the woman who earns her living, you are very right in saying it is her own fault if she gets older sooner.

But if you mean the housekeeper of the world, then I say it is not her fault for looking older than her husband.

In the paragraph you have quoted, you say that a man benefits by, in order to keep young:

First, you say, get plenty of out-door exercise. A man goes out to work. Sometimes he walks—where he has a good chance to get lots of fresh air. Then again a number of men work out of doors. With the poor woman has to stay at home, attend to the cooking, shop, and so on.

Where does the fresh walk and lots of fresh air come?

Second, you say, eat as regularly as men? No, they do not, but it is not their fault that they don't. When the husband comes home to the meal, he sits at the table till he gets up tired.

Third, you say, a man laughs more than a woman? That is very true. A man who works, or any one for that matter who is in the outside world mixes among different kinds of people, has a chance to hear jokes and stories told, and who would not laugh then?

But what is the woman doing? She is home in the kitchen getting her husband's dinner, perhaps she is planning what to get him for the next meal, maybe cleaning up, but whatever she is doing she is not listening to jokes or stories. Yet you say it is the woman's fault that she does not laugh more.

Fourth, you say a man gets more sleep than a woman? That when supper is over, or perhaps an hour before the meal is ready, he throws himself on the couch and takes a nap. Yes, that is true, but the wife is getting the meal, and if she has done so another thing, where would the supper come in?

A man's work is from sun to sun, a woman's work is never done.

Turn the question over to the wiser of the page. I trust they will think the same.

I feel that a highly important matter for discussion, and I think the pleasure to give space to letters from women expressing their opinions on the subject. Is not a woman's fault if she wears herself out and grows old before her husband?

HELEN H.

CALLS SHORE SHAFT ATROCTY

Philadelphia Criticizes Memorial to Civil War Veterans

Atlantic City, March 15.—Charles Westing, president of Westing, Hoag & Egerton, Inc., Philadelphia, a contractor in Chelsea, has phoned Atlantic City into a conference over what is art and what is not by indicating that Atlantic City is a white marble soldier and sailor monument in the Albany Avenue Park, Chelsea, is an atrocity.

The white marble shaft, with its brilliant figures, is the particular pride of a few Grand to pay for it last year, after waiting fifty years for the city to put up a fitting token of appreciation of the services they rendered in the Rebellion.

Mr. Westing's "indictment" is contained in a letter he sent to Mr. Thompson, City Commissioner, expressing the hope that the memorial to be erected in Atlantic City boys who served in the world war will conform to artistic requirements.

Dear Madam—Do you know of any one who wants a pretty young boy to look in and write, half grown, little, male and clean. We are leaving the city and hope to have it build. MRS. J. A. R.

Dear Madam—In the EVENING PHILADELPHIA I read about Nig that Mrs. R. desired to give away. My little girl

four years old, found a little black kitten last Halloween and thought the world of it. Unfortunately, about two months ago it went out and never came back.

Every morning I have a crying spell about "Niggy," as she called the kitten. If the party changes her mind and does not want this little black "Niggy," I would like to have him for my little girl. If he is already disposed of will you print this?

If any one has a nice little male kitten she will give away, please write to Mrs. M. MRS. M.

Is It a Woman's Fault?

To the Editor of Woman's Page: Dear Madam—The other evening there appeared an article on the woman's page headed, "Why a Woman Gets Older Sooner Than a Man?" And you say it is the woman's fault.

If you mean the wage woman, that is the woman who earns her living, you are very right in saying it is her own fault if she gets older sooner.

But if you mean the housekeeper of the world, then I say it is not her fault for looking older than her husband.

In the paragraph you have quoted, you say that a man benefits by, in order to keep young:

First, you say, get plenty of out-door exercise. A man goes out to work. Sometimes he walks—where he has a good chance to get lots of fresh air. Then again a number of men work out of doors. With the poor woman has to stay at home, attend to the cooking, shop, and so on.

Where does the fresh walk and lots of fresh air come?

Second, you say, eat as regularly as men? No, they do not, but it is not their fault that they don't. When the husband comes home to the meal, he sits at the table till he gets up tired.

Third, you say, a man laughs more than a woman? That is very true. A man who works, or any one for that matter who is in the outside world mixes among different kinds of people, has a chance to hear jokes and stories told, and who would not laugh then?

But what is the woman doing? She is home in the kitchen getting her husband's dinner, perhaps she is planning what to get him for the next meal, maybe cleaning up, but whatever she is doing she is not listening to jokes or stories. Yet you say it is the woman's fault that she does not laugh more.

Fourth, you say a man gets more sleep than a woman? That when supper is over, or perhaps an hour before the meal is ready, he throws himself on the couch and takes a nap. Yes, that is true, but the wife is getting the meal, and if she has done so another thing, where would the supper come in?

A man's work is from sun to sun, a woman's work is never done.

Turn the question over to the wiser of the page. I trust they will think the same.

I feel that a highly important matter for discussion, and I think the pleasure to give space to letters from women expressing their opinions on the subject. Is not a woman's fault if she wears herself out and grows old before her husband?

HELEN H.

CALLS SHORE SHAFT ATROCTY

Philadelphia Criticizes Memorial to Civil War Veterans

Atlantic City, March 15.—Charles Westing, president of Westing, Hoag & Egerton, Inc., Philadelphia, a contractor in Chelsea, has phoned Atlantic City into a conference over what is art and what is not by indicating that Atlantic City is a white marble soldier and sailor monument in the Albany Avenue Park, Chelsea, is an atrocity.

The white marble shaft, with its brilliant figures, is the particular pride of a few Grand to pay for it last year, after waiting fifty years for the city to put up a fitting token of appreciation of the services they rendered in the Rebellion.

Mr. Westing's "indictment" is contained in a letter he sent to Mr. Thompson, City Commissioner, expressing the hope that the memorial to be erected in Atlantic City boys who served in the world war will conform to artistic requirements.

Dear Madam—Do you know of any one who wants a pretty young boy to look in and write, half grown, little, male and clean. We are leaving the city and hope to have it build. MRS. J. A. R.

Dear Madam—In the EVENING PHILADELPHIA I read about Nig that Mrs. R. desired to give away. My little girl

four years old, found a little black kitten last Halloween and thought the world of it. Unfortunately, about two months ago it went out and never came back.

Every morning I have a crying spell about "Niggy," as she called the kitten. If the party changes her mind and does not want this little black "Niggy," I would like to have him for my little girl. If he is already disposed of will you print this?

If any one has a nice little male kitten she will give away, please write to Mrs. M. MRS. M.

Is It a Woman's Fault?

To the Editor of Woman's Page: Dear Madam—The other evening there appeared an article on the woman's page headed, "Why a Woman Gets Older Sooner Than a Man?" And you say it is the woman's fault.

If you mean the wage woman, that is the woman who earns her living, you are very right in saying it is her own fault if she gets older sooner.

But if you mean the housekeeper of the world, then I say it is not her fault for looking older than her husband.

In the paragraph you have quoted, you say that a man benefits by, in order to keep young:

First, you say, get plenty of out-door exercise. A man goes out to work. Sometimes he walks—where he has a good chance to get lots of fresh air. Then again a number of men work out of doors. With the poor woman has to stay at home, attend to the cooking, shop, and so on.

Where does the fresh walk and lots of fresh air come?

Second, you say, eat as regularly as men? No, they do not, but it is not their fault that they don't. When the husband comes home to the meal, he sits at the table till he gets up tired.

Third, you say, a man laughs more than a woman? That is very true. A man who works, or any one for that matter who is in the outside world mixes among different kinds of people, has a chance to hear jokes and stories told, and who would not laugh then?

But what is the woman doing? She is home in the kitchen getting her husband's dinner, perhaps she is planning what to get him for the next meal, maybe cleaning up, but whatever she is doing she is not listening to jokes or stories. Yet you say it is the woman's fault that she does not laugh more.

Fourth, you say a man gets more sleep than a woman? That when supper is over, or perhaps an hour before the meal is ready, he throws himself on the couch and takes a nap. Yes, that is true, but the wife is getting the meal, and if she has done so another thing, where would the supper come in?

A man's work is from sun to sun, a woman's work is never done.

Turn the question over to the wiser of the page. I trust they will think the same.

I feel that a highly important matter for discussion, and I think the pleasure to give space to letters from women expressing their opinions on the subject. Is not a woman's fault if she wears herself out and grows old before her husband?

HELEN H.

CALLS SHORE SHAFT ATROCTY

Philadelphia Criticizes Memorial to Civil War Veterans

Atlantic City, March 15.—Charles Westing, president of Westing, Hoag & Egerton, Inc., Philadelphia, a contractor in Chelsea, has phoned Atlantic City into a conference over what is art and what is not by indicating that Atlantic City is a white marble soldier and sailor monument in the Albany Avenue Park, Chelsea, is an atrocity.

The white marble shaft, with its brilliant figures, is the particular pride of a few Grand to pay for it last year, after waiting fifty years for the city to put up a fitting token of appreciation of the services they rendered in the Rebellion.

Mr. Westing's "indictment" is contained in a letter he sent to Mr. Thompson, City Commissioner, expressing the hope that the memorial to be erected in Atlantic City boys who served in the world war will conform to artistic requirements.

Dear Madam—Do you know of any one who wants a pretty young boy to look in and write, half grown, little, male and clean. We are leaving the city and hope to have it build. MRS. J. A. R.

Dear Madam—In the EVENING PHILADELPHIA I read about Nig that Mrs. R. desired to give away. My little girl

four years old, found a little black kitten last Halloween and thought the world of it. Unfortunately, about two months ago it went out and never came back.

Every morning I have a crying spell about "Niggy," as she called the kitten. If the party changes her mind and does not want this little black "Niggy," I would like to have him for my little girl. If he is already disposed of will you print this?

If any one has a nice little male kitten she will give away, please write to Mrs. M. MRS. M.

Is It a Woman's Fault?

To the Editor of Woman's Page: Dear Madam—The other evening there appeared an article on the woman's page headed, "Why a Woman Gets Older Sooner Than a Man?" And you say it is the woman's fault.

If you mean the wage woman, that is the woman who earns her living, you are very right in saying it is her own fault if she gets older sooner.

But if you mean the housekeeper of the world, then I say it is not her fault for looking older than her husband.

In the paragraph you have quoted, you say that a man benefits by, in order to keep young:

First, you say, get plenty of out-door exercise. A man goes out to work. Sometimes he walks—where he has a good chance to get lots of fresh air. Then again a number of men work out of doors. With the poor woman has to stay at home, attend to the cooking, shop, and so on.

BABY BURNED TO DEATH DEATH IN TORNAO WAKE

Overturned Lamp Fires House, With Mother Absent at Ball

Lancaster, Pa., March 15.—With her father overseas and her mother attending a dance, three-year-old Beatrice Killian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Killian, 723 Rockland street, was burned to death late last night when she overturned a lighted lamp.

The little body, burned almost to ashes, was found shortly before midnight by Mary Wilson, 12 years old, a neighbor's child who had been left in charge of the baby.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Dear Madam—Do you know of any one who wants a pretty young boy to look in and write, half grown, little, male and clean. We are leaving the city and hope to have it build. MRS. J. A. R.

Dear Madam—In the EVENING PHILADELPHIA I read about Nig that Mrs. R. desired to give away. My little girl

four years old, found a little black kitten last Halloween and thought the world of it. Unfortunately, about two months ago it went out and never came back.

Every morning I have a crying spell about "Niggy," as she called the kitten. If the party changes her mind and does not want this little black "Niggy," I would like to have him for my little girl. If he is already disposed of will you print this?

If any one has a nice little male kitten she will give away, please write to Mrs. M. MRS. M.

Is It a Woman's Fault?

To the Editor of Woman's Page: Dear Madam—The other evening there appeared an article on the woman's page headed, "Why a Woman Gets Older Sooner Than a Man?" And you say it is the woman's fault.

If you mean the wage woman, that is the woman who earns her living, you are very right in saying it is her own fault if she gets older sooner.

But if you mean the housekeeper of the world, then I say it is not her fault for looking older than her husband.

In the paragraph you have quoted, you say that a man benefits by, in order to keep young:

First, you say, get plenty of out-door exercise. A man goes out to work. Sometimes he walks—where he has a good chance to get lots of fresh air. Then again a number of men work out of doors. With the poor woman has to stay at home, attend to the cooking, shop, and so on.

Where does the fresh walk and lots of fresh air come?

Second, you say, eat as regularly as men? No, they do not, but it is not their fault that they don't. When the husband comes home to the meal, he sits at the table till he gets up tired.

Third, you say, a man laughs more than a woman? That is very true. A man who works, or any one for that matter who is in the outside world mixes among different kinds of people, has a chance to hear jokes and stories told, and who would not laugh then?

But what is the woman doing? She is home in the kitchen getting her husband's dinner, perhaps she is planning what to get him for the next meal, maybe cleaning up, but whatever she is doing she is not listening to jokes or stories. Yet you say it is the woman's fault that she does not laugh more.

Fourth, you say a man gets more sleep than a woman? That when supper is over, or perhaps an hour before the meal is ready, he throws himself on the couch and takes a nap. Yes, that is true, but the wife is getting the meal, and if she has done so another thing, where would the supper come in?

A man's work is from sun to sun, a woman's work is never done.

Turn the question over to the wiser of the page. I trust they will think the same.

I feel that a highly important matter for discussion, and I think the pleasure to give space to letters from women expressing their opinions on the subject. Is not a woman's fault if she wears herself out and grows old before her husband?

HELEN H.

CALLS SHORE SHAFT ATROCTY

Philadelphia Criticizes Memorial to Civil War Veterans

Atlantic City, March 15.—Charles Westing, president of Westing, Hoag & Egerton, Inc., Philadelphia, a contractor in Chelsea, has phoned Atlantic City into a conference over what is art and what is not by indicating that Atlantic City is a white marble soldier and sailor monument in the Albany Avenue Park, Chelsea, is an atrocity.

The white marble shaft, with its brilliant figures, is the particular pride of a few Grand to pay for it last year, after waiting fifty years for the city to put up a fitting token of appreciation of the services they rendered in the Rebellion.

Mr. Westing's "indictment" is contained in a letter he sent to Mr. Thompson, City Commissioner, expressing the hope that the memorial to be erected in Atlantic City boys who served in the world war will conform to artistic requirements.

Dear Madam—Do you know of any one who wants a pretty young boy to look in and write, half grown, little, male and clean. We are leaving the city and hope to have it build. MRS. J. A. R.

Dear Madam—In the EVENING PHILADELPHIA I read about Nig that Mrs. R. desired to give away. My little girl

four years old, found a little black kitten last Halloween and thought the world of it. Unfortunately, about two months ago it went out and never came back.

Every morning I have a crying spell about "Niggy," as she called the kitten. If the party changes her mind and does not want this little black "Niggy," I would like to have him for my little girl. If he is already disposed of will you print this?

If any one has a nice little male kitten she will give away, please write to Mrs. M. MRS. M.

Is It a Woman's Fault?

To the Editor of Woman's Page: Dear Madam—The other evening there appeared an article on the woman's page headed, "Why a Woman Gets Older Sooner Than a Man?" And you say it is the woman's fault.

If you mean the wage woman, that is the woman who earns her living, you are very right in saying it is her own fault if she gets older sooner.

But if you mean the housekeeper of the world, then I say it is not her fault for looking older than her husband.

In the paragraph you have quoted, you say that a man benefits by, in order to keep young:

First, you say, get plenty of out-door exercise. A man goes out to work. Sometimes he walks—where he has a good chance to get lots of fresh air. Then again a number of men work out of doors. With the poor woman has to stay at home, attend to the cooking, shop, and so on.

Where does the fresh walk and lots of fresh air come?

Second, you say, eat as regularly as men? No, they do not, but it is not their fault that they don't. When the husband comes home to the meal, he sits at the table till he gets up tired.

Third, you say, a man laughs more than a woman? That is very true. A man who works, or any one for that matter who is in the outside world mixes among different kinds of people, has a chance to hear jokes and stories told, and who would not laugh then?

But what is the woman doing? She is home in the kitchen getting her husband's dinner, perhaps she is planning what to get him for the next meal, maybe cleaning up, but whatever she is doing she is not listening to jokes or stories. Yet you say it is the woman's fault that she does not laugh more.

Fourth, you say a man gets more sleep than a woman? That when supper is over, or perhaps an hour before the meal is ready, he throws himself on the couch and takes a nap. Yes, that is true, but the wife is getting the meal, and if she has done so another thing, where would the supper come in?

A man's work is from sun to sun, a woman's work is never done.

Turn the question over to the wiser of the page. I trust they will think the same.

I feel that a highly important matter for discussion, and I think the pleasure to give space to letters from women expressing their opinions on the subject. Is not a woman's fault if she wears herself out and grows old before her husband?

HELEN H.

CALLS SHORE SHAFT ATROCTY

Philadelphia Criticizes Memorial to Civil War Veterans

Atlantic City, March 15.—Charles Westing, president of Westing, Hoag & Egerton, Inc., Philadelphia, a contractor in Chelsea, has phoned Atlantic City into a conference over what is art and what is not by indicating that Atlantic City is a white marble soldier and sailor monument in the Albany Avenue Park, Chelsea, is an atrocity.

The white marble shaft, with its brilliant figures, is the particular pride of a few Grand to pay for it last year, after waiting fifty years for the city to put up a fitting token of appreciation of the services they rendered in the Rebellion.

Mr. Westing's "indictment" is contained in a letter he sent to Mr. Thompson, City Commissioner, expressing the hope that the memorial to be erected in Atlantic City boys who served in the world war will conform to artistic requirements.

Dear Madam—Do you know of any one who wants a pretty young boy to look in and write, half grown, little, male and clean. We are leaving the city and hope to have it build. MRS. J. A. R.

Dear Madam—In the EVENING PHILADELPHIA I read about Nig that Mrs. R. desired to give away. My little girl

four years old, found a little black kitten last Halloween and thought the world of it. Unfortunately, about two months ago it went out and never came back.

Every morning I have a crying spell about "Niggy," as she called the kitten. If the party changes her mind and does not want this little black "Niggy," I would like to have him for my little girl. If he is already disposed of will you